United States Antimony Announces A New Board Member Appointment of General John M. Keane to Its Board of Directors

"The Critical Minerals and ZEO Company"

~ Antimony, Cobalt, Tungsten, and Zeolite ~

DALLAS, TX / ACCESS Newswire / August 19, 2025 / United States Antimony Corporation ("USAC," "US Antimony," or the "Company"), (NYSE American:UAMY)(NYSE Texas:UAMY), is pleased to announce the addition of General John M. ("Jack") Keane, as an Independent Director to USAC's board of directors effective today.

General Jack Keane is a foreign policy and national security authority who provides nationwide analysis and commentary in speeches, articles, congressional testimony and through several hundred television and radio interviews annually. He serves as an advisor to presidents, cabinet officials, members of congress, international leaders, CEOs and business leaders. He is the Chairman of the Institute for the Study of War, a member of the prestigious Secretary of Defense Policy Board, having advised four Defense Secretaries and a member of the 2018 and 2022 Congressional Commission on the National Defense Strategy.

General Keane, a four-star general, completed 37 years of public service in December 2003, culminating in his appointment as acting Chief of Staff and Vice Chief of Staff of the U.S. Army. As the chief operating officer of the Army for over 4 years, he directed 1.5 million soldiers and civilians in 120 countries, with an annual operating budget of $110 Billion. General Keane was in the Pentagon on 9/11 and provided oversight and support for the wars in Afghanistan and Iraq. In late 2006, President Bush invited General Keane to the Oval Office among others to discuss Iraq. Alone among them, General Keane brought the president a concrete strategic concept, later to be known as the troop "surge" which he helped develop, to change American strategy for the war and improve its execution. During the surge period, General Keane conducted frequent trips to Iraq and Afghanistan for senior defense officials. General Keane is a career infantry paratrooper, a combat veteran of the Vietnam War decorated for valor, who spent much of his military life in operational commands, including command of the famed 101st Airborne Division (Air Assault) and the legendary 18th Airborne Corps, the Army's largest warfighting organization.

General Keane holds a bachelor's degree from Fordham University and a master's degree from Western Kentucky University. He is a graduate of the Army War College and the Army Command and General Staff College. Among his awards, General Keane was the first military leader to be honored with the Ronald Reagan Peace Through Strength Award and the prestigious Bradley Prize. In March of 2020, General Keane was presented with the Presidential Medal of Freedom at the White House. General Keane's numerous military service medals and citations include two Defense and two Army Distinguished Service Medals, five Legions of Merit, the Silver Star, Bronze Star, three Vietnam Service medals, Combat Infantryman Badge, Master Parachutist Badge and Ranger Tab, to list a few.

Commenting on General Jack Keane's addition to the board of directors, Mr. Gary C. Evans, Chairman and CEO of US Antimony stated, "We have been seeking for over a year now a former military official that would add the knowledge, strength, and experience to assist our board of directors as we continue to work more closely with various divisions of our U.S. Military. We could not be more excited to honor General Jack Keane with board membership at USAC. He has a very distinct understanding of how necessary our antimony business is to our country in order that we continue to safeguard the USA from foreign threats. He understands that, without military strength, we are all vulnerable to outside forces that are not necessarily in our best interest. His personal relationships and contacts with both current and past administrations is invaluable. We will use those connections professionally, selectively, and only when deemed necessary to continue our efforts to make America an antimony independent country, without the necessity of foreign critical mineral supplies."

In response, General Jack Keane stated, "I am honored to join the board of directors at US Antimony and thank Mr. Gary Evans and the entire board and leadership team for their confidence. Having served various positions in military leadership, I recognize the immense responsibility we bear to strengthen our nation's security. My years of service have shown that military readiness relies not just on our brave troops, but also on reliable access to strategic resources, including critical minerals like antimony. My experience across multiple administrations and defense organizations will help guide US Antimony in strengthening America's domestic antimony supply chain. Our collective mission-making America antimony independent-is part of safeguarding the nation's strategic future. I look forward to working with this exceptional team in support of US national security interests and ensuring that our men and women in uniform never lack the resources they need to protect our freedom"
